Heuer brings smart client solutions to business banking at Fox Valley Savings Bank

(Fond du Lac, WI)—Mark A. Heuer has joined the business banking staff at Fox Valley Savings Bank. He has more than 20 years of commercial banking experience focused on helping business owners create financing options that best support their goals.

“Mark’s experience will provide more options and easier solutions for our business banking customers,” said FVSB President and CEO Steve Schmudlach. “In his past work at community banks, Mark has been part of a wide variety of business banking situations, and he created smart solutions for clients that went beyond the typical and usual. He is a real problem-solver.”

Heuer most recently served banking clients in Markesan and Waupun. Prior to that, he worked in Beaver Dam. In each location, he has handled consumer, mortgage and commercial loans. He earned a bachelor of business administration degree in finance from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

“Community banks are so important to the vitality of community businesses,” Heuer said. “Banks with roots in a community understand how to support their unique community. I’m really happy to join the Fox Valley Savings team with its 85 years of commitment to local community banking, and I look forward to providing businesses with personal service that helps them succeed.”

Heuer is accredited in several software programs specific to the banking industry and holds a Wisconsin insurance license.

Beyond his community focused banking work, Heuer participates in many community activities, including the Waupun Rotary Club and Waupun Festivals Committee. He is in his fifth term on the City of Beaver Dam Planning Commission and his sixth term on the City of Beaver Dam Housing Authority, and has held several leadership roles in the Beaver Area Chamber of Commerce.
